TO THE MEMBERS OF THE MONTANA HIGHWAY PATROL
AND THE PEOPLE OF MONTANA AT LARGE:

This report is intended to set forth in detail the activities of the Montana Highway Patrol during the year 1941, but I think that it might well be termed "Montana's Fatality List for the Year 1941". For despite the best efforts of the Montana Highway Patrol and the constant warnings of the press over the radio and hundreds of safety talks before conventions, clubs, schools and various other gatherings by members of the Patrol and by safety-minded individuals and organizations throughout the State, Montana's highway casualties mounted steadily throughout the year until they reached a grand total of 194 deaths.

But this only tells a small part of the story. During 1941, there were 3,459 accidents reported to the Highway Patrol. In addition to the 194 dead, there were 1,758 persons injured and the reported property damage amounted to $555,231.00. This cost seems high enough to cover the price of carelessness, but when we consider the economic loss entailed by the 194 deaths and the 1,758 injuries involved, this price of carelessness reaches a staggering figure.

Using the standard figures set forth by the National Safety Council for computing the value of human life and the average cost of injury, we find that the carelessness of the drivers here in Montana last summer cost the people of this State $10,285,231.00. This in the face of the rising cost of living, the mounting tax burden and the unestimable cost of the war, which has been thrust upon us.

This chronicle of past mistakes should furnish food for thought to every person who drives a car in Montana, but when we add to this past record the realization that new tires are unprocureable, that the manufacture of new cars has been suspended, and that the manufacturer of automobile parts has been greatly curtailed; when we sum all this up with the knowledge that a car that is wrecked now cannot be replaced, and that when the tires which are on the cars that we are driving today are worn out there will be no tires to replace them, it should cause every driver on the streets or highways of Montana to seriously consider his conduct while behind the wheel.

The physical, financial and economic losses listed above would be serious enough if they had been thrust upon us by our enemies, as a result of our participation in the present war, but they were not. Almost entirely they were the fruits of carelessness, and practically every one of these accidents could have been prevented had all parties concerned used due caution.

What has already passed cannot be rectified, but let us hope that the people of Montana, looking back over this sordid record, can and will make a new resolve that this record will not be repeated; that this useless waste of life, property and essential material shall be greatly curtailed or entirely eliminated in the year 1942, while we bend all of our energies toward the successful prosecution of this war.

To you members of the Montana Highway Patrol, I wish frankly to say that your responsibilities are as great as those of a soldier on the firing line. It is your job and your duty to be on the alert; to do any and all things that may be humanly possible to prevent a repetition of last year. As soldiers of safety, let us take a new resolve that Montana's highways shall never again repeat the shambles of death, broken bodies and economic loss that they brought forth in 1941.

Yours very truly,
